

The Grit and Grace Project[®]

A place for strong women and those who want to be.

Women are often....

- Isolated and feeling alone.
- Searching for purpose.
- Seeking balance in life.
- Facing unexpected trials.
- In an unhealthy relationship.
- Fighting for their children.
- Afraid of being judged.
- Striving to find a place of hope.

Current statistics show that 1 in 8 women are depressed, 49% of 19- to 44-year-olds are cohabitating often desiring more. Over 15 million single mothers carry the burden of parenting alone. Women desperately need an understanding voice.

We are that safe place!

We are here for all women seeking answers to life's toughest questions and challenges. Those who need encouragement filled with reminders of God's grace, even in our toughest moments. Please join us by investing in our mission to reach women by answering questions they are often afraid to ask.

Our Community of Women Provides...

- The safe place where women never feel judged.
- The answers to real life problems.
- The voice of grit that proclaims that life challenges neither defeat nor define them.
- The voice of grace that reminds women to give kindness to themselves and others.
- The partners who walk alongside them on their journeys.

DONATE NOW!

When you donate to The Grit and Grace Project, you partner with our writers, and our video and podcast hosts, who are sharing and offering answers to the difficult parts of their lives. They have lived through domestic violence, suicide, infidelity, infertility, and divorce. This community speaks to motherhood, relationships, blended families, practical living, and (trying to find) life balance. Always layering everything we say with both grit and grace.
